Summary

Abas Mngomezulu. Passionate about the software development industry. Web applications play a crucial role in our everyday life, from getting entertainment through our favourite streaming platforms, or reading the latest news on blogs, news tablets or websites. As a millennial generation I grew up around the internet and from a very young age, my fascination was captured. It is me doing injustice in explaining this fascination to you, the reader. Let me show you, instead my journey as a software developer. Hope I can spark your interest. Thank you.
